Eighteen Deaths Due to Game in 4908

ACCIDENT

304 Injuries Record of Season, Highest Number Fatalities Since 1901-Captains of Big Elevens Very Unfortunate.

New York, Dec. 3 .- The foot ball casualty book this years show alarming figures as a result of the autumn play, despite the more open game in vogue. not with the game itself, but Eighteen deaths and 304 injuries is the players who participate in it. sacrifice to the pigskin god, the number of fatalities and injuries being in excess of any previous statistics since the in-auguration of the "new foot ball" in the autumn of 1906.

However, of the large total of 304 accidents to players, but 50 were of a really serious nature. Inasmuch as the Vulcans Defeated Barre Independents by common everyday occurrences of a gridiron campaign, strained tendons, twisted knees, wrists, shoulders and ankles, "Charley horses," and even bruises are in the three-figure total, it can readily be seen how the list shows such an apparently alarming condition of affairs. The 18 deaths that the king of fall sports has exacted as tribute is a fact that cannot be smoothed over, as it is the highest total that has ever resulted from the game since 1901, with the exception of 1905, the season preceding the change in the rules, when 24 players met their death on the lime-lined field. Foot ball is essentially a college sport, as undergraduates are the only ones who are able to devote the time to training and practice that are such essential assets to safe participance in the game. As has been the case in previous years, undertrained players, or, as a matter of fact, players who have had no prepara-tion whatever, have been the unfortunates who have swelled the injury and mortality statistics to such a high mark. Players on the prominent college elevens are not permitted to take the field unless they are in excellent condition, with rare exceptions, and it is a noticeable fact that of the 18 deaths during the past of college elevens, and those four elevens were far from being high class organiza-tions. More than half of those in the injury column were college players, which is team, Knapp 12, and Maiden scored is accounted for by the flerceness of the eight for the Independents.

from the viewpoint of casualties it has been an unusual year, in that an exceptionally large number of captains were injured and their teams deprived of their services. Capt. But few people felt interest enough in the basket ball game played at Hale's pavilion last evening between the Vulans and Barre Independents to patronize it and missed an excellent exhibition. The score at the end of three 15-minute Vulcans. The Vulcans were considerably heavier than the Independents, most of the latter team being Spaulding high school players, while the Vulcans played their regular men.

Both teams worked together well and gave a good exhibition of passing, although both failed to make scores or gains by dribbling. The Independents seemed to get to going early in the game and outplayed their heavier opponents in the first period, the score at the end being 12 to 5 in their favor.

In the second period the Vulcans took a brace and got their passing and speed to work and scored a total of 20 points while the Independents made 11, making the score 25 to 23 in favor of the former team. The Vulcans had it down fine in the final period and they were about season only four players were members all there was to the game, and rolled in a total of 16 points, while the Independents scored only two.
